Art has always been my passion since childhood. Living in some of the most beautiful parts of the world coupled with my global travels added fuel to the passion and made my transition from being an architect to an artist very seamless and satisfying. After living in countries such as the Netherlands, the UK and Switzerland, and exploring and exhibiting at various art expos and festivals there since 2014, I am looking forward to doing the same in my new home, Austin, TX.

My primary medium of expression is oils and I love to explore different techniques to achieve my vision of the subject. My work primarily focuses on landscapes; and having grown up and studied architecture in India, and being exposed to the natural environment and pristine landscapes of Europe, my work is greatly influenced by the bright color palette and fine detailed study, resulting in my work being a true reflection of me, i.e. simple, full of life and harmonious.
