Casey Craig's imaginative mixed media paintings range in color from subtle to vibrant depending on the mood she wants to create. Her stylized renditions of animals, and still lifes, are rich with textures and patterns. Her preferred media includes paint, decorative and hand-painted torn papers, combined to achieve the effects that make her work distinctive. She has been commissioned by The ASPCA, The Discovery Channel and several national magazines, newspapers and children's publications. She obtained her BFA from the University of Texas and has won numerous awards and has been recognized in shows from coast to coast. Her work is in both public and private collections. After living in Louisiana, California and Florida she has settled in the beautiful hill country of Wimberley, Texas where she enjoys working in her home studio. Dividing her time between painting, enjoying the beauty of the area and her family keeps her busy and content.
